INVITATION

The 2011 OWICS conference shall be dedicated to Professor Olafur H Wallevik of the Innovation Center Iceland, for his support and significant contribution to concrete technology.

Prof Olafur H Wallevik is the head of basic research at Innovation Center Iceland and a professor at Reykjavik University as well as adjunct professor at Sherbrooke University, Canada. He has worked with concrete technology since he finished his master thesis on the rheology of fresh concrete at Norwegian Institute of Technology in 1983. In 1987 he introduced the first version of his viscometers which now are in use throughout the world. His special fields are Rheology of Fresh Concrete, High Performance Concrete, High Strength Concrete, Self-Compacting Concrete and Microstructures. He is the manager of ICI Rheocenter and has chaired or been the chairman of the scientific/technical committee of international conferences on Self-Compacting Concrete (SCC) annually since 2003. He is the chairman of the Int. Steering Committee of the 9th HPC Symp. in New Zealand 2011. He has held about 40 rheology / SCC courses in 16 countries.

An exceptional programme is being planned and we invite submission of original papers relevant to the main theme of this year's conference. We look forward to your participation.
